

First articles published in EPJ N Nuclear Sciences & Technologies a new fully Open Access Journal from EDP Open

EDP Open the Open Access imprint from EDP Sciences, has announced the publication of the first articles in their newly launched fully Gold Open Access Journal EPJ N Nuclear Sciences & Technologies which is edited in partnership with the French Nuclear Energy Society (SFEN). EPJ N is a part of The European Physical Journal (EPJ) which is a series of peer-reviewed journals covering the whole spectrum of physics and related interdisciplinary subjects. The first articles are now freely available to read online.

EPJ N is a forum for the communication of original research, ideas and developments in all areas of the peaceful use of nuclear energy, as well as on applications of nuclear particles and radiation and aims to serve its academic community, industry professionals, research institutions, government agencies and policy-makers concerned with the research, technological development and application of nuclear science and technology.

“I’m proud to announce the first articles in EPJ N, which provides authoritative and up-to-date information on the field of nuclear science and technology and promotes the exchange of ideas and research within the nuclear and atomic science communities” said the Editor-in-Chief Christophe Béhar, Director General of the CEA’s Nuclear Energy Division (French Atomic Energy Commission).

His co-Editor-in Chief-Bernard Bonin Deputy Scientific Director of the CEA’s, Nuclear Energy Division went on to say “these articles demonstrate the journals commitment to providing a peer-review platform to identify areas of growth and support the development of nuclear technology and applications in various markets for peaceful purposes through the study of nuclear science, technology and resources”.

As well as fully open access journals, EDP Open provides free and open access to more than 80,000 scientific articles from across all EDP Sciences’ journals and also hundreds of conference proceedings.
